

QAED

The core responsibility of the Material Development is to conduct different sorts of training need assessments and subsequently develop quality training and support materials. MD wing ensures effective staff development programs with the aim to enable the teachers to enhance their knowledge and skills. On the other hand change their behaviours for better performance during teaching-learning process in the classroom.

The Material development wing also arranges the capacity building workshops to equip the QAED's staff, developers, trainers & trainees about the latest subject training and supporting techniques helping the teacher to enhance the teaching standard, issues, and solutions relating to the classroom discipline.
